

New partner at bptw

For immediate release

18th May 2010:

bptw partnership is pleased to announce the appointment of Mark Gibney as a partner. Mark joined bptw as head of planning in 2007 and has successfully led the planning team on a broad range of high profile projects.

The planning team has developed a reputation for successfully dealing with challenging sites including securing planning permissions for a number of clients who had not previously worked with bptw. Successes have included planning approval for two major regeneration developments in Lewisham, an award winning residential scheme in Bethnal Green, and the refurbishment of the Grade II listed Tottenham Town Hall along with several other residential and commercial mixed use projects

Mark has led the steady expansion of the planning team since it was established, and with its depth of knowledge and expertise continues to attract new and existing clients ranging from developers and housing associations to architects and private individuals.

– Ends.
